Put Illinois to Work is a program created by utilizing state funds and federal stimulus dollars, and will be administered through Heartland Human Care Services. Through the Program, youth ages 18-21, non-custodial parents and single parents with children (i.e. TANF eligible adults) will be placed in temporary, subsidized positions and will learn valuable and transferable skills enhancing their long-term employment prospects. Employment opportunities will be available in a variety of fields and will last up to six (6) months. The Put Illinois to Work program is currently scheduled to end on September 30, 2010, however there is a possibility that the federal legislation underlying this program will be amended and the end date will be extended. Employment opportunities will be created through collaboration between CHA, CHA case management and workforce development service providers and community partners. HHCS, as the primary grantee, will be the employer of record responsible for processing accurate and timely payroll for the participants, while CHA will act as program manager.

CHA is requesting authorization from the Board to receive up to $1,400,000 from HHCS, however it is anticipated that CHA may not receive this entire funding amount. The funding received will depend on negotiations with the grantee and the number of residents placed in employment through the Program.
